- Title: What is the project to be called?

Increasing Accessibility at UIST 2018

- Conference: What is the conference and its location?

UIST 2018 in Berlin

- Subject matter: What is the purpose of this project?

The main purpose of the project is to make the conference and its content more accessible to a range of participants including access to presentation and rooms for participants with children

.

- Funding: How much funding is requested?

$7,000.00

- Expenses details: How the requested funding is implemented in detail?

Accessibility to broaden access to presentations

- captioning of talks and sessions: $1,600.00
- recording equipment (shipping): $1,200.00
- additional SVs for recording (2): $1,200.00

Additional rooms (for the whole conference):

- Family and nursing room: $1,500.00
- Quiet room: $1,500.00

- People: Who speaks for, and takes responsibility for this project?

Conference and financial chairs at UIST2018.

Patrick Baudisch, Albrecht Schmidt, Bastian Pfleging.

- Relevance: Which conference attendees and conference series attendees this project is relevant to?

Participants with special needs, parents, people requiring a quiet space

- Potential value: What is the potential value of the proposed project to conference attendees? How does it support the organizers or the policy of the conference series leadership?

Increasing value of the conference and making it more accessible and family friendly.

- Is there any additional funding and have you considered other sources of funding?

- Does the proposal include matched funding from another source?

no

- If your conference is co-sponsored, can you demonstrate financial support from the other sponsors towards this proposal?

N/A

- Title: What is the project to be called?

Increasing Student Participation at UIST 2018

- Conference: What is the conference and its location?

UIST 2018 in Berlin

- Subject matter: What is the purpose of this project?

The main purpose of the project is to enable more students to participate in the UIST 2018 conference in Berlin and to provide high quality feedback to students.

Through the travel grants we will allow up to 10 students to get support with their travel cost making the conference visit affordable to them.

The doctoral symposium is well established at the UIST conference and provides a room for discussing the PhD progress of individual students with experienced advisors. It has served PhD students in the past very well and provided them with mentorship outside their own institution. Many of the participants of previous conferences move on in their careers and became active members of the SIGCHI community.

- Funding: How much funding is requested?

$30,000.00 for the doctoral colloquium and for 10 student travel grants

- Expenses details: How the requested funding is implemented in detail?

$20,000.00 for the doctoral colloquium, this includes the conference room and catering, supports for the students, accommodation. The figures are based on the experience from previous years.

$10,000.00 for 10 travel grants for students. The travel costs are capped to 1,000.00 per student and are according to the SIGCHI rules

- People: Who speaks for, and takes responsibility for this project?

Doctoral consortium chairs, conference chairs, and financial chairs at UIST2018.

Meredith Ringel Morris, Patrick Baudisch, Albrecht Schmidt, Bastian Pfleging.

- Relevance: Which conference attendees and conference series attendees this project is relevant to?

students

- Potential value: What is the potential value of the proposed project to conference attendees? How does it support the organizers or the policy of the conference series leadership?

Increasing students' value of the conference, fostering a community, increase scientific quality of the doctoral research, supporting future leaders.

- Is there any additional funding and have you considered other sources of funding?

- Does the proposal include matched funding from another source?

no

- If your conference is co-sponsored, can you demonstrate financial support from the other sponsors towards this proposal?

N/A